

BRUMFIELD BUSHPILOT BRIEFING

Acts 1:8 "But you shall receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be witnesses to Me in Jerusalem, in all Judea and Samaria, and to the end of the earth."

The Ends of the Earth:

There was an interesting sermon I heard the other day from a Brazilian perspective based on Acts 1:8 above. The pastor talked about how their Jerusalem was the city they lived in, Judea was their surrounding areas, Samaria was the river communities of the Amazon, and the ends of the earth were places like Africa. It was eye opening because from my perspective, the ends of the earth are where God has sent me in Brazil, specifically to their "Samaria." God has called us to be His witnesses, wherever He sends us!

Mission:

In July, missionaries from all over Brazil, from South Africa, and from the United States (my parents) spent two weeks evangelizing people in river communities in the Amazon. We partnered with local churches to do outreach in their communities. A typical day would start with "knocking" on doors (actually, we stood outside and clapped instead of knocked) and then visiting with the residents, sharing the gospel, praying for their needs, and inviting them to the evening outreach event. At the same time, kids from the village would gather for a futebol (soccer) game with some of the missionaries, followed by a gospel presentation. In the community center, we set up a clinic with a doctor, nurses, a dentist, and several Christian counselors where villagers could come and be treated, physically, emotionally, and spiritually. By late afternoon, we set up for the outreach event, usually outdoors in the street, or in the local town square, near the church building. The service included a Bible class for kids, and for the adults we had worship songs, a gospel message, a drama, and a time of praying and sharing testimonies. At the end of the service, we encouraged people to speak with the local pastors and church members and to come to the Sunday church service and be discipled with the local body of believers. Then we gave the families that attended the outreach event a "Cesta Basica" or basic food basket which contained staples like rice, beans, cooking oil, sugar, salt, and coffee. In addition to helping with the mission outreach, I helped with transportation and logistics and with the construction of a church building in one of the villages. The churches we partnered with said it was a great success, with many villagers giving their lives to Jesus, coming back to being discipled and attend the church. Below are pictures from the mission trip:

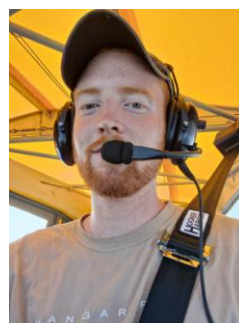

Other Mission Work:

Before the July mission trip, I spent a week in Santarem with PAZ International helping them put fabric on their new airplane, a Bearhawk 5, like the one I am flying (1st row, 1st picture). After the mission trip, my parents and I went to see where the new base will be in Itacoatiara (1st row, right 3 pictures). We drove back to Humaita on the worst road in Brazil and spent several days at mission events in the surrounding river communities and working in the shop on the airplane (2nd row, 1st two pictures). Once they left, I celebrated my 21st birthday with friends in Humaita with ice cream (2nd row, 3rd picture), helped my friend Leo celebrate his wedding, then moved into the mission house and helped him move with his new wife (2nd row, 4th picture). I have also been doing some much needed airplane and boat maintenance, flying more (3rd row), and studying for the Brazilian pilot test (in Portuguese) so I can transfer my pilot certification to Brazil. I took the test in early September and passed! Now I need a medical exam and a flight with an examiner and I will be ready to go to the new base at the beginning of next year.

Thank you for all of your prayers and support!!!
